

Saturday, May 20th, 2023
Auditorium, College Year in Athens, 5 Plateia Stadiou, Athens

Travellers, Archaeologists, and Archives: The development of Greek Epigraphy and Topography from the Manuscripts of the Early Pioneers.

The British Epigraphy Society and College Year in Athens invite you to a colloquium on the manuscripts and archival papers of early travellers and archaeologists pertaining to the development of Greek Epigraphy and Topography in the 18th and 19th centuries. All are welcome to attend in person or online. Details for registration will be sent out shortly, but members should contact the organiser, Robert Pitt (robert.pitt@cyathens.org), if they wish also to participate in a tour of the epigraphic collection of the Acropolis Museum on Friday May 19th.

(Athens time = GMT +2)

12.00: Welcome and Introduction

12.15: Angelos P. Matthaiou (Greek Epigraphic Society)
The Topography of ancient Athens and Athens of the 19th century

13.00: Robert K. Pitt (College Year in Athens)
The epigraphic papers of Michel Fourmont and the findspots of Attic inscriptions

13.45: Break for refreshments

14.30: Alessia Zambon (Université de Versailles-Saint-Quentin-en-Yvelines)
Schedae Fauvelianae Berolinenses: new discoveries about Boeckh's CIG

15.15: Georgia E. Malouchou (Archaeological Society at Athens)
Old archives and papers: A History of Attic Epigraphy by Greek Epigraphists of the 19th century

16.00: Michael Metcalfe (British School at Athens)
Collecting inscriptions from the comfort of home: epigraphic texts in the archives of William Martin Leake

16.45: Concluding remarks and Reception